

Infant-Toddler Services (Birth to 3 years)

Since 1996, the Infant-Toddler Program has provided services to children under age three and their families. Through the years, the Infant-Toddler Program has provided services to more than hundreds of families. Currently provided as a joint program of USD 409 Atchison Public Schools and Northeast Kansas Infant Toddler Services, this legacy of caring continues today.

The mission of the Infant-Toddler Program is to provide the necessary services to enable young children (ages birth to three years) who experience developmental delays and/or difficulties to progress toward the maximum of their abilities. When these services are provided in a timely manner, the need for further intervention can often be reduced or eliminated.

Services provided by the Infant-Toddler Program are multidisciplinary, and to the fullest extent possible, delivered in settings which are typical for young children and which include a predominance of normally developing children. Services are currently provided in the family's home, at day care, in relatives' or friends' homes or at family work sites, at the family's convenience. Services provided include: assistive technology, family training and home visits, dietary/nutrition services, occupational and physical therapy, speech/language therapy, services coordination, assistance with transportation, and health, vision, hearing and developmental screenings.
